Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 02/07/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. However, as applicant suggest that 35 U.S.C. 102(a) applies to the PCT publication date in the present application claiming priority to provisional application. Accordingly, 35 U.S.C. 102(e) statutory bar has been changed to 102(a) for rejection of claims 1-7 and 10-13.

2. The Declaration of Peter K. Olmsted filed on February 07, 2005 under 37 CFR 1.131 has been considered but is ineffective to overcome the PCT/EP01/08841 reference.

3. The evidence submitted is insufficient to establish a reduction to practice of the invention in this country or a NAFTA or WTO member country prior to the effective date of the February 07 2002 the publication date of reference PCT/EP01/08841, for the following reasons:

Attached Exhibit A, the copy of facsimile is hard to read for containing small fonts.

The location of support for elements of claims 1 and 7 does not correspond to the page numbering of Exhibit A or B. Additionally, the mathematical formula/theory disclosed in Exhibit A as an evidence of claimed invention, is insufficient for corresponding each and every element of the independent claims 1 and 7. There is no evidence shown for dependent claims 2-6, and for independent claim 13 for claiming Computer software product.

Also, page 2 of 4 of Exhibit A is missing.

4. The evidence submitted is insufficient to establish a conception of the invention prior to the effective date of February 7, 2002 the publication date and July 31, 2001 the international filling date for reference to PCT/EP01/08841. While conception is the mental part of the inventive act, it must be capable of proof, such as by demonstrative evidence or by a complete disclosure to another. Conception is more than a vague idea of how to solve a problem. The requisite means themselves and their interaction must also be comprehended. See Mergenthaler v. Scudder, 1897 C.D. 724, 81 O.G. 1417 (D.C. Cir. 1897).

For at lease these reasons, the evidence submitted is insufficient to establish a conception of the invention prior to the effective date of July 31, 2001 reference to PCT/EP01/2001.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1-7 and 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Kasper et al 2003/0174305.

Regarding to claimed invention claims, Kasper et al suggest measuring device for measuring and staking out of building ground plans for new building i.e. preparation of batter board and as well as area calculation for surveying of existing buildings or for examination of individual measurements of a building on col. 4, paragraph [0074]. With regarding claimed step of providing at least two batter points away from boundary of the building, Kasper discloses a marker transmitter that triggers certain positions and sets marking when reaching said positions in order to transfer CAD floor plan. In figure 9b actual position of the mobile robot is calculated using triangulating position of the three signal beam detectors arranged parallel and with the distances d_1 and d_2 in one plane and base distances b_1 and b_2 for the determination of the distance r calculated from α_1 and α_2 and the base distances, see paragraph [0090]. With regard to claimed building element data, Kasper et al discloses measuring device as shown in figure 10a, with a two-dimensional positioning with only one signal beam, signal receiver 3d, equipped with three rod sensors located parallel to the rotation axis, see paragraph [0088] and in paragraph [0089] and [0090] discloses the method for calculating distance.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 8 and 9 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The cited art does not teach claimed invention as specifically recited as first, second, and third building element at required relative angle.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
